To adapt and succeed in the ever changing world, one needs to develop the abilities that are highly valued in the workplace. Among these is the ability to work independently as well as collaboratively. To think both critically and creatively. To be a confident thinker, a strong writer and an effective communicator.

A master's degree paves way for an individual to academic excellence, enhanced skills, an intellectual persona, self empowerment, upgraded confidence level and success. Post graduation in Public Health Dentistry aims at enhancing the academic skills in the field of community oral health as well a special focus is developed towards the dental research. Post Graduate exams are not just a test for brilliance but an assessment of thoroughness. Keeping this in mind, Department of Public Health Dentistry, Pacific Dental College and Hospital has organized an extensive review program for post graduate students covering various topics which are important from academic and exam point of view. So kindly register and augment your excellence.
